

Family Letter - The Fixes Games

Dear Families,

Our class/school is participating in The Fixes Games, a classroom behavior field day reset built around active practice.

Students will practice the habits that help a room work: listening, directions, waiting, calm body, respect, and responsibility.

This is not about perfection. It is about practice. Students will hear a Fix phrase, watch a clean model, play a short game, reset if needed, and reflect on how the habit can be used in real moments.

You can support the work at home by asking:

- What Fix did you practice today?
- What was the game?
- Where could you use that Fix at home?

Thank you for helping us build calmer routines through practice.

Sincerely,

Fix the system. Not the kids.
